become a matter of fact that Copper also abounds in these parts; but a few days ago we were sent a specimen of virgin copper lately found by R. M.

bles on the shore of Lake Michigan, near the about one pound, and from the observations which he made, he says there is every indication at the bottom of the small streams emptying into the Lake, that there are large beds of virgin copper to be found. He has also sent us a specimen of what he calls Coal, which he has found, but it does not look to us any thing like the anthracite or bituminous, nor does it burn in the same way; we broke a piece off from the specimen which he sent us and placed it on the fire, and it seemed to burn very readily, but remains very hard, while that of other coal burns to a cinder; but we do not pretend to say tuat this is a fair test, it may prove otherwise when burnt in a large body; this, however, is very strongly impregnated with sulphur.

Mr. Eberts states in his letter to us that he has burnt it for the purpose of testing its virtues, and has found it to give great heat and to burn with great brilliancy, and informs us that there is to be found any quantity near the margin of the Lake shore.

Not only is this part of the country (Twin Riva great lumbering country, and there is at the pre-erected by Mr. Eberts at the mouth of the streams, and also one or two other saw mills erected a small distance above his, from which there are annually shipped large quantities of pine lumber. It is also destined to become a great farming country, being adapted to the raising of any kind of agricultural that he has been informed by the individual who has visited it that there is a large rock, which from all appearance has, some time or other, been thrown up from the earth by some convulsion of nature, and which is virgin copper, pieces having been brought to him cut from the rock, which he

SUBSIDIZING THE PRESS BY THE GENERAL GOV-ERNMENT!-No one thing in the whole machinery of our Government is more startling, or bodes more evil in its consequences, than the practice of subsidizing the press; of devoting the whole patronage of the Government to the purchasing and sustaining of newspapers devoted to its interests, right or wrong. If such a system be persevered in with success, their is no measure of profligacy which a Government may not attain, and still cover that profligacy from the eyes of the people through the convenient misrepresentations of such newspapers as are bought and paid for that work. When the press and the Government both become thoroughly corrupted, there will be little left in our institutions

It has been suggested that Congress should raise Committee at the preseent session to examine thoroughly into the matter of subsidizing the press.

We hope it will be done, and that the whole machinery will be thoroughly overhauled. The charge of foul corruption has gone abroad in a great variety of shapes; if it be true, the people should know it; if it be false, the Government owes it to itself to wipe out the stain, as it can easily do by a fair

As a specimen of the manner in which the Government is accused of subsidizing the press, it is stated that a paper in New-York called the 'Union,' edited by Major Noah-a man never particularly famed for his political honesty, but, on upon the salaries of office-holders under the Administration, and is sustained by a patronage directly from the Government, amounting to at least eight thousand dollars per annum! Although it has a daily circulation of not more than 400 copies, yet the Government advertisements of the highest importance are published in it at the very highest prices. The object of Government advertisements for contracts, &c. is to give the greatest possible publicity among the people; and yet in this case

THE TRIBUNE.

CHINA. - The following interesting letter is from the Boston Daily Advertiser: U. S. SHIP ROSTON, MACAO ROADS, June 25, 1842. DEAR SIR :- Our negotiations having been brought to a close, it is generally supposed that we shall sail hence in the course of a few days, probably for the Northward. We are at present detained by the ill health on board the two ships, and the want of funds-recent intelligence from America having had a tendency to impair the credit of our Government. Our Bills have been for some time in the market and are yet, I believe, unsold. Merchant's Bills are selling at 4s. 3d to the dollar; but English capitalists tauntingly offer to take those drawn on the U. S. Government at 5, 6 or 7 shillings the dollar. The number of sick in the squadron is unusually large. The sick list on board the Constellation contained a few days since, 144; this morning, 50 names. The number on board this ship was, this morning, 80-mostly intermittent fevers. The result of our negotiations with the Chinese has been highly satisfactory, except to a few interested persons. The Chinese manifested a willingness to make all reasonable explanation, apology and indemnity. The pecunjary losses of the sufferers amounted, according to their own estimates, to $7,800. This amount the Commodore presented as a claim; but the Chinese, for the better satisfaction of all, allowed $10,000, intending $2,200 as a present to the dissatisfied. The Commodore was of opinion-notwithstanding the wishes of such Americans as might have expected to receive a share of the 'smart money,' and of Englishmen or others who, having exacted large sums themselves, hoped for his countenance-that questions of 'offended national dignity' ought not to be made matter for pecuniary indemnity.

In the case of the young man, Sherry, the Chipese have done all that can be expected. Thu Commodore did not feel authorised to set a value up-n the life of an American citizen; but it is generally understood that the Hong Merchants intend to ship a present of considerable value to his relatives as a testimonial of the sincerity of their condolence.

Our apparently amicable relations with the Chinese and the visits of the High Admiral, Tac Tuck, and subsequently other Mandarins of rank. gave rise to rumors that we were teaching the Chinese the arts of war, gunnery, the construction of fortifications, &c. It is true that they were allowed to examine whatever they chose; but we cannot see wherein we can be accused of any impropriety in according to the Chinese the same courtesies which it affords us pleasure to show to officers of similar rank in the British service, whenever they give us an opportunity. The Chinese are making efforts to supply themselves with foreign arms. Not long since they procured, and have now in their possession, the armament of a French Frigate, wrecked at Manilla. In one of their work-shops at Canton they are constructing gun-carriages, upon the most approved principles capable of being trained in all directions. Their forts, however, are of faulty construction, apparently defenceless in the rear, the wall of insufficient thickness, and without re-entering right angles and trenches: at least, this is the case with the five below Canton. The city is, however, sufficiently protected from an attack by water by any vessel of considerable size, by the obstructions sunk in the river. I am informed by an English officer that an attempt on Pekin is contemplated. Perhaps, also, on Nankin, the former capital of China, abreast of which, contrary to an opionion that has had some currency, large ships may lay. Ningpo has been evacuated by the greater part, if not all, Her Majesty's forces, by the orders of Sir Hugh Gough, and contrary, it is said, to the wishes of Sir Henry Pottinger, the Plenipotentiary, between whom and the military commanders there seems to be now some difference of opinion. Sir Henry Pottinger has been anxious to proceed at once to active operations, while Sir Hugh has been disposed to wait for the arrival of the reinforcements. Her Majesty's forces recently had a somewhat warm reception at a small place above Chusan. The first report of the affair, credited at the time was that the troops were surprised while plundering a Jos House or Temple, and 17 killed and 87 wounded. But sir Hugh Gough's published statement mentions seven killed, including Colonel Tomlinson and one Captain. It was reported a week or two since, that the Chinese Emperor had, according to his usual custom, though somewhat earlier, retired from Pekin to his summer residence in Tartary. If so, he is likely to thwart for a time, at least, the avowed wish of Her Majesty's officers to obtain access to his person. The credibility of the report has been questioned on the ground that public sentiment would not endure such a step while his capitol is menaced by a foreign fee. The British forces are already large, but should the present season be allowed to pass without some decisive action, the final result may well be considered doubtful. It is quite possible that many of the improvements which are being introduced here, are unknown to the north. On the other hand, the northern troops are confessedh more warlike, and from her proximity to Russia, may have learned something of European tactics.

The Chinese manifest a great dread of falling into the hands of the English barbarians. Not long since the troops found on entering a captured village, the dwellings of the Chinese filled with the dead bodies of their women and children; Chinese mothers having first despatched their children and then strangled themselves rather than endure the violence of a ruthless soldiery. Doubtless exasperated accounts of the indecencies committed at the taking of Canton, have been circulated in every part of the Empire. If this may be taken as an index of the state of feeling in other parts of China, the English may expect a pretty determined resistance when they attempt to march into the in-

It is difficult to estimate the Chinese force from the returns of the inferior Mandarins, who often draw for the subsistence and pay of troops that have only a nominal existence.

The same thing may occur to the operator himself before the hour is over. Now, we ask, do not such charges as these demand an investigation from Congress? If they are false, it will be easy enough to make them appear so; if they are true, then indeed has corruption in high places reached a crisis which demands the active exercise of every restraining power. We have no interest in the matter beyond that which every citizen ought to feel for the public good. We do not want the patronage of the government at any rate. for we are getting on quite well enough without it; and we certainly would not take it, if encumbered by even an implied surrender of our personal and political independence. More than One Hundred and Fifty Lib-ERATED SLAVES READY TO EMBARK FOR LIBE-RIA .- The Society is urged to despatch another expedition to Liberia. A young man of Virginia received by inheritance nineteen slaves, and on coming of age offered to confer liberty upon them in one of our north-western States; but after visiting those States and observing the unhappy condition of their free colored population, persuaded them to select Liberia as their future home, to which they are to sail, in an expedition of the Ma ryland Colonization Society, now preparing to depart on the 9th instant. This generous individual is ready to contribute $500 toward defraying their expenses. Eighteen colored persons in Kentucky are waiting to embark, and in danger of reverting to slavery if not enabled shortly to do so. One hundred and thirty in another State are looking to the Society for opportunity to emigrate; and although property is left to effect their removal, the avails of it cannot, without great sacrifice, be immediately realized; and on this account, as well as to meet the expenses of the last expedition, the Society is compelled to solicit every friend to the cause, every minister of the Gospel, every patriot and every Christian to come forward to its aid. Must the Society cease to act in this great enterprise? We call upon the press to make known its wants. We call upon ministers of every communion to submit its present necessities, and the weighty reasons which should secure to it universal and efficient support, to their congregations. We know and feel the pecuniary embarrassments of the country; but let societies in aid of the cause be every where organized, and even the weekly contribution of a single cent from each of the mass of our population would replenish the treasury of the Society, and send new joy and hope to our African settlements, and through them to millions as yet unvisited by the reviving voice and influences of Christianity. Reader! think, if you please, on the subject, and what you can do for the furtherance of the cause. [African Depos. for Dec.

sake of many who may be so surely reneved, I will briefly yet accurately state it.

Nineteen years ago last April a fit of sickness left me with an Erysipelas eruption. Dropsical collections immediately took place over the entire surface of my body, causing such an enlargement that it was necessary to add a halt yard to the size of my dresses around the waist. Next followed, upon my limbs, ulcers, painful beyond description. I was able to enjoy sleep andrest, by night, as refreshing as any Lever enjoyed when in perfect health. Besides, I was, in this short time, relieved from all those exerutiating and maileviated pains that had adlicated my days, as well as robbed me of my night's repose. MESSES. SANDS—GENTLEMEN: If you alone were concerned in the present statement, the great inducement for making it would be removed; foroit course no testimony making it would be removed; for of course no testimony can strengthen your own convictions in relation to the value and efficiency of your Sarsaparilla, which has already proved such a blessing to the many hundreds who have used it. But I have looked upon the world encircling in its arms thousands bowed down with utilerings similar to my own, who would gladly hasten to the same source that restored my health, if they were persuaded they would meet with the same happy results. Therefore, gentlemen, it is that those thousands may be convinced; and profit by their conviction as I have done, that induces me to state before the world a period of suffering such as few have known, and the permanent relief I received from your Sarsaparilla. But how shall I begin, or how describe dose exeruciating agonies that select upon my frame? Early excruciating agonies that seized upon my frame? F.sry in the month of June, 1840, I was first attacked with rheu matism, caused, I have reason to believe, by a severe col contracted while nursing one of my children, who was the very ill.

My suffering soon became intense, everywhere I seemed diseased. For five months I was unable to walk, and for six weeks did not lie upon a bed, but was obliged to remain in a sitting posture, that being less agonizing than any other was so sore and racked with pain that in a sitting posture, that being less agonizing than any other. My whole body was so sore and racked with pain that the slightest touch caused inexpressible distress. For a period of many months I did not sleep but two nights, and the only rest I obtained was during the day, when nature became exhausted and I fell into a slumber, from which I was soon awakened by the beating and throbbing pain. My limbs were swollen and my shoulders drawn out of place, and altogether I was rendered entirely helpless. I obtained the best medical advice, but without receiving any permanent relief. The rheumatism being combined with a swelling and painful affection of the joints, rendered itstill werse. Tumors formed under the skio, round my head, which caused burning and lanciating pains similar to scrofula of the glands.

My grouns at night caused the watchman to stop in the street as he passed by; and when many of my friends re-siding in Poughkeepsie last visited me, they bid me fare-well, as they then thought for ever; and once the family assiding in Poughkeepsie last visited me, they but me takes well, as they then thought for ever; and once the family assembled in the room to watch the last spark of life go out. But the fame of life again glared up within me; and soon after this I heard of your Sarsaparilu, and determined to try it; and behold the result. After taking one bottle the pain left me, and I was able to walk and sleep. I could scarcely realize the transition—so sudden, so complete. After using four or five bottles, I was entirely cured. And are you alone, gentlemen, concerned to know it? I think not; and this language is too mild for the occasion. For I know that the medicine that possesses the power to cure me is capable of conferring the same blessing upon thousands of others suffering—perhaps dying; therefore, these are all concerned in the discovery of any thing that tends to promate the happiness of the human race; for we are social beings, and cannot suffer alone. Persons may doubt this statement if they will, and go on and suffer and die, I have discharged a duty which I felt incumbent upon me in making it known for the benefit of those who choose to believe it. And when I look into the past—upon those solitary days and sleepless nights—I thank God that I asn as I am. And I thank you, gentlemen, that you have made science minister into our infirantities, and I, for one, will proclaim the fact.
